Currant and Gooseberries destroyed		30,614

The total area covered in Lee during 1922 by town, state and private funds amounted to 2,864 acres. There were destroyed over this area a total of 33,860 wild currant and gooseberry bushes.

PLANS FOR 1923

Infected white pine was found in great abundance throughout the area worked in 1922. The rust is also known to be present in many other sections of the town. In view of these facts the Department feels that it is highly impossible for work to be conducted so that remaining pine areas may receive protection similar to that afforded those already covered. Control work conducted throughout the State in the past has been carried on by 109 towns in co-operation with the State. Some 16 or 17 towns have now been completely covered. During the past season nearly 150 pine owners throughout New Hampshire carried on control work at their own expense, the State co-operating to the extent of furnishing free of charge a crew foreman. These activities are pretty conclusive evidence of the strong feeling which exists regarding the seriousness of blister rust.

Agent, in Charge,
Blister Rust Control.

JAMES B. WALKER,
G. B. THOMPSON,

Auditors of the Lee School District.

To the School Board of Lee:

The great problem of education in America today is the problem of providing better schools facilities in rural communities. In Lee we are right in the midst of it. Educators everywhere are giving thought and evolving plans so that the boys and girls of the country places can begin to have some of the advantages that come to city children. It is the right of our children to have these advantages. They will grow up to face conditions of working and living far different from those that we had to face. There will be keen competition. Whether they live in the city or in the country, they will have to compete with people most of whom have had the advantage of a high school education. For the sake of our children the schools ought to be made better.

The first essential of good schools is to have good teachers. It is just as important to get a trained and experienced teacher to operate on the minds of your children as it is to get a skilled and experienced surgeon to operate on their eyes and their throats. Just as much good is accomplished by the teacher who knows how, and just as much damage is done by the unskilled operator. It was difficult this year to get teachers at all for country places and it is becoming more difficult to get good teachers and to keep them. Where are the young people in Lee that are qualified and willing to teach our schools? The condition in other rural towns is much the same. Capable teachers are in demand in the cities and villages and you do not blame them for preferring those places.

Our problem is to make teaching in our schools so attractive that we can get good teachers and keep them. One way to do this is to increase the salaries. If we lose the teachers we have, it will be hard to get others. Our teachers are worth more after this year of experience. They are worth more to other towns and should be worth still more to us as they know our children and understand our problems.

A town should do more for its teachers than to pay them well. Do not make them feel like strangers in a strange land who come by day and fly by night. Take them in as a part of the community. Take an interest in their work and well-being. Your obligation is to provide convenient boarding places where they will be not only well cared for but where they will be contented and happy. Friendliness quite often counts more than money when a teacher decides where she will teach. If the town would consider a plan for a centralized school, it would be easier to get and keep good teachers. Such a school would greatly improve the teaching and would make possible the beginning of high school work at home.

Another essential of good schools is to have good school-houses. It should be made possible to have the school-houses comfortable without the teacher having to give her time and attention to that matter constantly. The building at South Lee is not up to the minimum standard of the state with regard to lighting, heating, ventilation and sanitary arrangements. For this year I recommend that a beginning be made on the needed improvements: including the installation of a modern heater with arrangements for ventilation and replacing the out-of-date double seats with adjustable school furniture suited to the size of the children.

The cordial friendliness with which I have been greeted by the people of Lee is highly appreciated. The friendly counsel of the board members and the loyalty of the teachers have made the year's labor a cause of great satisfaction. May I say in conclusion that I have not come into the town with the intention of running the schools? The school board is perfectly capable of doing that and was elected for the purpose. I am willing, however, to do my part and want to take my place as a citizen in the towns where I work to promote the welfare of the boys and girls of the community.

Respectfully submitted,

O. R. McCOY,

Superintendent of Schools.
